A Father's Toolbox

by Edd Sterchi

Back on the farm, I remember when something broke, my father got out his toolbox and fixed it. As a child, I was fascinated by his toolbox and everything in it. It seemed my father could fix almost anything with his collection of tools.

From the very beginning, God designated husbands/fathers as the leaders of the home (Gen. 3:16). Fathers have a great responsibility in making sure the whole family goes in the right direction in the name of the Lord. The Christian father would do well to have a spiritual toolbox ready at all times with some of the following in it:

- A crescent wrench, to adapt quickly and continue leading tightly.
- A carpenter's pencil, to draw boundaries the family can clearly see.
- A level, so he can be level headed in all circumstances.
- Wire pliers, to hold things together when others may lose their grip.
- A hammer, so he can effectively drive home important truths.
- A utility knife, to cleanly separate and remove influences, that harm the family.
- A screwdriver, to keep things turning in the right direction keeping the family secure.
- A tape measure, to accurately gauge the family's use of time, resources, and priorities.
- Duct tape, for quick fixes, so problems don't get out of hand, holding them in check until a permanent solution is found.
- An extension cord, so he can be plugged into the proper power Source.

Thank you, Father's, for your commitment to the Lord and your hard work in serving your families faithfully. We love and appreciate you!
