Beware of Satan's Nose and Foot

by Edd Sterchi

The ancient Arabs had a saying: "Beware the camel's nose" which means if we let one small undesirable situation occur, it would soon get worse. If you let a camel get his nose into the tent, it's whole body would soon follow. In America, we have a similar saying in that we let someone get "a foot in the door."

These sayings can warn us of the danger of letting Satan into our lives. Like the bulky, smelly camel, Satan can work himself into our lives, and if we give him the opportunity, he will.

In, (Gen. 3:1-6), Eve allowed herself to doubt the word of God. It went downhill from there quickly. She allowed just the tip of the nose of doubt into her mind, and before she knew it, Satan ruined her life and her family's life.

In, (Josh. 7:1-26), the people of Israel were forbidden to take any spoils of war. But Achan was tempted. In his confession he states that he saw, coveted, took, and finally hid the treasures. Satan got his foot in the door and kept forcing his way in, deeper and deeper.

In, (2 Sam. 11:1-27), King David looked at a woman bathing, lusted after her, had an affair with her, tried to hide the sin, then killed her husband. Letting in the nose of the camel led to disaster.

May we ever be wary of Satan's temptations and realize that we can quickly be led astray if we let him enter into our lives. If we give him an inch, Satan will take a mile.
